2021 Wingdam Underground Gold Bulk Sample Program

The 2021 bulk sampling program is designed to continue the successful placer gold test sample program initiated in 2012. That program utilized ground freeze technology to recover 173.4 ounces of placer gold from a single 2.4-metre by 2.4-metre by 23.4-metre-long drift across the gold-bearing paleochannel located approximately 50 metres beneath Lightning Creek. The initial phase of the bulk sample program for 2021, includes the first 300 metres of 17,000 metres of potential paleochannel on Omineca's claims.
